

Wakefield Mat Clinic Overflows

Wakefield's annual wrestling clinic, which opened Monday, is bursting at the seams.

Some 89 wrestling enthusiasts greeted Vic Blue, clinic director and Wakefield coach, for the 5-day clinic. Beginners' and advanced sections of the clinic are offered.

"We couldn't handle any more this year", remarked Vic, at the close of the opening round. He had two mats, one borrowed from Washington-Lee, filled with arm-twisters for four hours.

Vic said that, if the demand continued rising, he may have to step up the program with more instructors and mats, or conduct two one-week sections next summer.

Two instructors are helping Vic conduct the clinic. They are: John Reese, athletic director and wrestling coach at Wilkes College; and John Maitland, wrestling coach at Easton High in Easton, Pa.

Two Wakefield Coaches Leaving

Richie Gaskell, assistant football coach and psychology teacher at Wakefield, will join the staff at Furman next term.

Gaskell will be an assistant football coach at Furman.

Joe King, jayvee football coach at Wakefield, will spend the next two years in Germany. King also coached the gymnastics team.
